Lindsay is the owner of Eclectic Consulting LLC of Rolla, Missouri. She retired as Senior Secretary of Missouri University of Science and Technology's Distance and Continuing Education department in 2011. Serving in this position since 2007, she worked closely with Shamsheer Prakash as the conference secretary for his international geotechnical engineering conferences. Rolla has been her home since age 9, and she is a graduate of Missouri S&T with a B.A. in Psychology. Her career with Missouri S&T spanned 25 years, including work as a systems analyst, assistant director of alumni and constituent relations, and executive vice president of the Miner Alumni Association. Prior to her return to Rolla in 1985, she lived in Atlanta, Georgia, and worked as a systems analyst for Rollins, Incorporated. She is a member of Chapter HR of P.E.O. International, Coterie of Missouri S&T, Phelps County Alumnae Panhellenic, and Club TEAC locally, as well as many national and international charitable and family organizations. She was honored by inclusion in Who's Who and by being named an Honorary Knight of St. Patrick. Her husband Kent owns Kent Jewelry in Rolla, and they have two daughters, Hannah and Lydia. They are also proud to call ten outstanding international women their daughters, too, hosted through the Rotary International Youth Exchange program.
