Role of research centers topic of faculty forum

Posted by Velvet Hasner

On January 25, 2018

All un-tenured and tenure-track faculty, and assistant teaching and research professors are invited to a faculty forum to discuss research centers at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 7, in Room 204 Curtis Laws Wilson Library.

Research centers help faculty by providing administrative support for preparation of proposals and management of research grants. They are also a place to meet faculty with common research interests to discuss potential research collaborations. Learn about the importance of a multidisciplinary approach in seeking internal and external grants and establishing a large consortia of research centers. Refreshments will be provided.
