NOTED SINGER WILL BE

PROGRAM THURSDAY.

The next Thursday evening the General Lecture Committee has provided something of a different nature for the entertainment of the students. They have secured for that evening Mr. Marshall Bryant, of Columbia, Mo. Mr. Bryant is a baritone of unusual ability, and is recognized over the country for his voice.

While he possesses a voice of unusually beautiful quality, wide range, and ample power, and a technical facility equal to any demand, he does not depend upon any one of these qualifications for his success, but rather upon the blending of all into a "glorious song." In Mr. Bryant's work one finds clear sustained tones of beauty, phrases sensitively shaded, and marvelously clean-cut diction.

As his repertoire is comprehensive, he has appeared in various parts of the country in either recital, or oratorio and opera in concert form. Mr. Bryant has the true oratorio style and competent

TEACHERS MEETING WAS WELL ATTENDED

Program Made Up of Several Lectures and Musical Numbers

The South Central Teachers Association held their annual meeting at Rolla, October 22-24. An excellent program of addresses and music was presented for their benefit and entertainment.

The meeting ended with a business meeting Saturday morning. J. H. Trippe was elected president for the following term. C. E. Vaughn, Owensville, Forrest Dunium, county superintendent of Texas county and A. E. Webber were elected first, second and third vice-presidents respectively. Superintendent. Clyde Miller was elected a new member of the executive committee. The association will meet in Rolla again next year.

Charity Ball Ushers in M. S. M. Home-Coming

The first event of Homecoming weekend will be the Charity Ball to be held in Jackling Gymnasium Friday night. This dance is sponsored by the Rolla Junior Club and funds derived from it will be used to clothe the needy school children of Rolla. The Varsity Orchestra will play for this occasion, so don't forget to get a date and come. The Junior Club welcomes the alumni to this dance, and all out-of-town alumni will be admitted free. Dates $1.00; stags, 50c.

Halloween Dance To Be Given Saturday

To make the home coming weekend complete, the St. Pats board is sponsoring a Hallowe'en dance to be given Saturday night at the gym.

This dance will be given especially for the entertainment of the visiting students from Central and the Alumni School of Mines.

Here's a chance to show the Central College Girls' Pep Squad some real Miner spirit. Grab a girl and on with the dance.

YUCATAN LECTURER IS WELL RECEIVED THURSDAY EVENING

A GOOD CROWD HEARS
S. G. MORLEY TALK
ON CENTRAL AMERICA

On last Thursday night, Prof. Millar introduced the second of the programs on the General Lecture Course by presenting to the large assembly of students, teachers and townfolks, Mr. Sylvanus Griswold Morley, of the laboratory of Anthropology, Carnegie Institution, Washington.

Mr. Morley illustrated his lecture with a series of slides. This proved to be a very entertaining method of bringing to the audience a vivid picture of the work that is being done by the Carnegie Institution in Central America. To begin with, Mr. Morley divided the civilization that existed in that country, and mainly in the Yucatan peninsula, into two general periods: the period of the Old Empire, which flourished in south from about the birth of Christ to the sixth and seventh centuries; and the period of the New Empire. AS MINERS FAIL AGAIN.

In a game marked with frugal passing and lack of punch in pinches, the Bearcats scooped a blocked Miner pass and crossed the goal for the one score of the game. Maryville confirmed rumors of her strength by stopping the Miners repeatedly when a yard meant first and ten. Maryville found the Miner line practically impenetrable, but succeeded in turning the Miner attack again and again by intercepting Miner passes when their success was most needed. The Miner ends, Capt. Malik and Kirchoff rendered the laterals and end runs of the Bearcats useless by stopping them in their tracks. Fumbles killed the Miner attack numerous times. The Miners lost their scoring chances in the second and fourth quarters. See Football Page Five.

Swimming Classes Are Being Well Attended As Meets Are Secured

Mr. Gow has announced that the swimming team has several tentative meets and that it is almost a certainty that Westminster and Washington will compete with the Miner tankmen. Also a water polo team has begun practice under the able coaching of Mr. Stephenson, son of Prof. Stephenson, who was captain of the University of Illinois swimming team several years ago. The mermen are taking to the new (for Miners) game readily and it is possible that a good team may be developed and some games secured. Certainly there are plenty of students to whom a game of water polo would be a novelty. With these plans underfoot the season should be a great success.

Miners Clash With Central Eagles Here Saturday

Large Home-Coming Crowd Will See Miners
And Eagles Battle on Jackling Field

The strong Central College team of Fayette, Mo., will furnish the opposition to the Miners in the homecoming game next Saturday. Central has been playing good football all season, and won last week from Culver Stockton by a score of 7 to 0.

Last season Central College was proclaimed by some to be the champions of the conference. However, they did not play the Miners. This coming game will be the Miners opportunity to prove their superiority over their old rivals, and last years proclaimed champions of the conference.

A neat victory over Central College would add to the success of our homecoming event; so by all means let's beat Central College next Saturday.

Not the least of the homecoming week end will be the two dances, one sponsored by the Junior Club Friday night and another given by the St. Pats board Saturday.

Each year the Central College students take what is known as a "Student Trip." That is nearly the entire student body follows the team to watch them play one game. This year the students have elected to watch the Miner-Central battle.

Along about the fourth century the Old Empire began to break up. On account of famine and such conditions the people began to drift slightly northward and eastward to Yucatan, and slightly southward to Guatimala. And as they went, they of course carried their civilization with them to the new country.

At this time Mr. Morley gave a brief description of the country in which the expedition was forced to work. The dense forests that cover Central America are penetrated only by the native hunter in the search for the essentials of chewing gum, and once in a great while by an archeologist in search for ruins of an ancient civilization. Many times these ruins are located and reported to the archeologist by the native hunter.

The site chosen for study of the Old Empire was the ancient city of Uaxactun. Here was found the oldest Maya relic so far discovered; a small statuette made out of jadeite, and which goes by the name of Tuxtla. Some other relics were found dating back to the eighth cycle. The calendar of those times formed around a period called a cycle. The date of these relics was determined by the system of numbers. A bar meant five, and a dot meant one. On these articles were a bar and three dots, signifying the eighth cycle.

Mr. Morley then described the work of Pul Martin, his co-worker, in the re-building of an old temple which had been demolished by time. Pictures were then shown of the Temple of Warriors in the old city of Chichen Itza, of the New Empire. This temple was also rebuilt to what it was, as nearly as possible, in the time when the Mayas would make sacrifices at its alters at sundown.

All of these temples and relics, for the most part, were adorned with beautiful frescoes, usually depicting some war scene, but in some few cases, domestic scenes.

Mr. Morley closed his interesting talk with pictures of the most beautiful piece of work yet found in his searchings. Under the altar in the old Temple of Warriors was found a container in which was a mosaic of such fine workmanship that the expedition called an expert down from New York to restore it. It may now be seen in the Museum of Mexico.

A group of professional men had gathered in the lobby of the Claypool Hotel, and proceeded to make themselves known to one another.

"My name is Fortesque," one said, extending his hand. "I'm a painter—work in water colors chiefly."

"Indeed," chimed in another, "I'm an artist, too. I work in bronze."

"Well, this is fine," a third broke in. "I'm a sculptor—I work in stone."

Then the quiet little fellow who had been inclined to keep apart stepped up, with a dry smile. "Glad to make the acquaintance of you gentlemen, for I have common interest with you. I'm a college professor. I work in ivory."

What Price Glory

It seems that a football team suffers the same way as an individual from too much success. For example the Miners met a good hard fighting team last week end but one that was doped to fall easy prey to the experienced material.

For some reason or other co-operation between members of the Miner team seemed to be entirely lacking throughout the game. Even when the Teachers scored the Miners still seemed to be holding back. It appeared to several casual observers that the only time some of the Miner players really tried hard was when they had a chance to spring into the lime light. The observers might have been in error. It seems that a variety of plays and a change of ball carrier would be convenient at times, especially when the team in question has plenty of plays and plenty of backfield men. Our argument is that if we are going to lose anyway the experience would be good for the Miner backs.

OR

Instead of viewing the game as a let down on the part of the Miners another angle should be considered. The trip to Maryville was probably the hardest ever attempted by the Miners. A long bus trip covering most of two days is enough to make any team play an inferior game. At any rate a good chance to redeem themselves will be presented to the team this Saturday.

OUR APOLOGIES

We take this opportunity to offer our apologies to the Central gridmen for the field on which they have to play. We regret that no better field is available but we believe we are safe in saying that in a year or two the Miners will have an excellent field on which to entertain their visitors.

By Squint, who is glad someone invented key holes.

This is a tough racket. If you don't believe it ask any movie director. Of course it isn't so bad on a big college weekly like this. There are limits which we cannot pass in gathering copy. Of course, key holes are not barred unless someone stickes a nail file in your eye. The trouble is some of the best copy we get the editor looks it over, says, "Hell, you can't print that and then folds it up carefully and uses it for blackmail. We can say that and he has no come back because we owe him money.

The independent dance was quite well attended. Some of the boys looked pretty well stayed with also. We didn't think there were enough deer in Missouri to have a deer season, but there sure was plenty of stags at that dance. But then come to think of it we've no end of little "dears" around about the state.

These one-touchdown football games seem to be developing into an epidemic. Hope it gets over before this week end. We'd hate to have the ole grads come home and then feel all beaten down.

We always look forward to Homecoming with much zest and all that old shellac for at that time the hand clasp is a little firmer, the eye grows bit mistier, the knees a bit more wabblier and head a bit "drumier." Of course, there will be some of the grads that we won't be so glad to see, such as guys who loaned us dough when we were frosh and whom we have been dodging ever since. But all in all its great to have 'em back to sling the hooey with us again and we intended to have our transit set up where we can get all of the old boys on the cross-hairs. It has been rumored that Slim Campbell will be back this year for the first home coming since he left. If this report is kosher we will have enough copy to last us for a spasm or two.

Everything moves fast at this time. A few weeks ago a prominent New Yorker landed from a trip abroad wearing a beret type cap with a very short bill which he designed himself. Several of these have appeared on the campus already. They may be ultra smart and all that but personally we can't hand them a thing. We'd rather were a red tie.

Eugene Kew has lost his pin but as yet he hasn't advertised for it. We tried to sell him some space but he wouldn't buy any. The pin may be gone for good but then one never knows. Pins have a way of coming back. We wouldn't have written that if he'd given us a cigar.

with passes over the Bearcats' goal line. The Teacher's touchdown came on a fluke at the close of the first half. Dowell, Bearcat guard, broke thru to partially block Tat's attempted pass and Smith, the other guard, caught the ball on the Miners 30 yard line to turn the play into a touchdown for Maryville. A lack of team work was very noticeable on the part of the Miners.

Summary in Brief

The Miners took the kickoff and a series of line drives were stopped by McDonald's fumble on his forty. Tat intercepted the Teachers pass to stop the Bearcat drive. Punting and line plays continued for the rest of the quarter, with the Miners holding the Teachers for downs on the Miners one foot mark to stave off the Bearcat drive resulting from a fumble by Thornton being recovered by the Teachers on his forty yard line. Thornton recovered a Maryville fumble on the Miner 38 yard line at the start of the second quarter, and after an exchange of punts the Miners started a drive from their own 34 yard line which ended on the Bearcat 17 yard line when Towse's pass over the goal line was knocked down. The Miner line then weakened to permit a 33 yard run thru their line by the Bearcats. Tat stopped this drive by intercepting a Teacher pass on his own five yard line. Tat punted out of bounds on his 47 yard line and the Teachers punted back to Bruce Thornton on his ten yard line who returned it to his thirty-one yard line. The Bearcats intercepted the second of two attempted passes, with two minutes to play. The Teachers tried once and their second pass was intercepted by Tomlinson on his forty-five. The Maryville guards then broke thru to block and intercept Tat's attempted pass on the Miner thirty yard line and sprinted over for the six point lead. Frantic passes by the Miners proved of no value as the half ended before one was completed.

The Miners gave way to the Maryville attack at the beginning of the second half, but the line soon stiffened and stopped the Teachers in their tracks. Near the close of the third quarter Towse received a punt on his 48 yard line and the Miner machine started to function. Ten yards by Dick, eleven by Towse, and the quarter ended. Continuing the drive in the fourth quarter, Thornton hit the line and then tossed a beautiful pass to Kirchoff who was downed on the Teachers 7 yard line. Thornton advanced the ball to the three yard line in three tries, and then the attempted pass over the goal line was incomplete, ending the drive. Straight football ensued the remainder of the game with the Miners attempting three incomplete passes at the close.

INDEPENDENT DANCE

The whole school was entertained with a dance given in Jackling Gymnasium by the Independents Friday night, October 23rd. The Varsity Orchestra led by Babe Clemmons rendered excellent music. There were a great number of out of town dates present and the dance was enjoyed by all who attended (and that seemed to be everyone in school). It was a fine dance and the hospitality shown by the Independents in extending an open house invitation was greatly appreciated by the remainder of the school.

"I LIKE YOUR NERVE"

Doug Fairbanks, Jr., has taken up the character that made Doug, Sr., so famous—the dashing Robin Hood type.

The story takes place in Central America. Doug, supposedly studying business conditions of the country, passes a very beautiful girl (Loretta Young) on the street, and decides to win her. He finds she is betrothed to rich, but old Clive Lattimer, whom she loathes. Her father, who is short in his accounts, is marrying her to the money hoarder for a huge sum. Doug succeeds in kidnapping her from kidnappers, and extracts a huge ransom from Lattimer, which he gives to the father, and drives gaily away with the girl.

Plenty of action and numerous athletic stunts that even Doug, Sr., would be proud of.

"DAUGHTER OF THE DRAGON"

Dr. FuManchu, long supposed dead, suddenly and unexpectedly returns to London with the definite purpose of putting to death his enemy, who he blames for the death of his wife and son. He succeeds, but is shot by a detective. He gets away, however, and on his death bed, forces his daughter to swear she will kill his enemy's son. She is in love with the boy she is supposed to kill. The detective come in at the proper moment and all ends well. Fine suspense is developed in the treatment of the story, and Miss Wong, the heroine, does splendid work at her part.

"BAD GIRL"

"Bad Girl" isn't as bad as its name. The story deals with the meeting of a young New York shop girl and a radio mechanic. They fall in love, rather too well than wisely, and are forced into a hurried marriage. Then they find that an heir is coming. Their joys, sorrows and emotional vicissitudes during the following months form the drama that ensues. Sally Eilers is the heroine, James Dunn the hero, and Minna Gambel the ever-present friend of the young wife.

"NIGHT NURSE"

"Night Nurse" is an interesting and rather exciting story of hospital life. The heroine is a probationer nurse and the hero a bootlegger, who has a bullet wound in his arm. He asks the nurse to dress his arm and not notify the police. She does this and they become friends. After graduation she is sent on a private case to care for two dying children. She finds the children are being starved to death by the doctor and their mother in order to get their trust fund. With the aid of her bootlegger friend, she clears up the case and send the guilty ones to jail. Of course she marries the bootlegger, who quits the racket. The story is very interesting and the acting far above par.

Sag. Bertram: Where is the balance of your rifle?

Ebert: This is all they gave me, sir.

'Peaches' Browning: I'm one girl in a million.

Jenkins: Sure, you are, but I forget which one.

B. K.: Aw, honey, c'mon, just one more kiss.

Mary: No! I've had enough of your lip for one night.

Mother: Billy, go wash your face and neck.

Hedges: Neck who?

MSM Glee Club: "—and for bonnie Annie Laurie, I'd lay me down and die."

Voice in audience: "Is Miss Laurie in the house?"

To Entertain Thursday

critics consider him one of the finest of the oratorio baritones.

This ability is due in part to the high degree of training which he has received. He studied at Oberlin Conservatory, and at the Cincinnati Conservatory, receiving the Mus. B. degree from the latter institution. He later coached with leading singers on repertoire and interpretation.

At the present time Mr. Bryant is Chairman of Voice Department of the School of Fine Arts of the University of Missouri. He is on the state committee, representing music, which is in charge of the College Program Circuit.

One need not be a student of music, or a potential singer to appreciate and enjoy the program which Mr. Bryant has prepared for next Thursday night. Here is an excellent chance for those who appreciate music to spend an entertaining evening, for Bryant immediately wins his audience and shares with them his vivid and colorful interpretations.

will be the means of transportation.

Nearly 350 students are expected to arrive some time Saturday. This number will include a large band and a girls pep squad. Special bleachers will be built on the south side of the field for the little Eaglets.

This is the home coming game for the Miners and early indications point to an extremely large group of alumni at the game and dances. Let's deliver a welcome to the visitors in true Miner hospitality.

HOW ABOUT A PORTABLE TYPEWRITER. ANY KIND AT SCOTT'S DRUG STORE

Facts.. FACE-UP

© 1931, LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Let's talk Straight from the Shoulder

WHAT you want in a cigarette is taste. You want mildness . . . smoothness . . . and satisfying pleasure when you smoke.

All right then . . . get this straight.

CCHESTERFIELD pays top prices . . . yes, and a premium for the ripest, mellowest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows.

The curing and conditioning is done by specialists . . . men carefully trained in handling these fine tobaccos.

IN BLENDING, also, Chesterfields are different . . . Instead of merely mixing the tobaccos together . . . we cross-blend them. It's like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco. That's how we get that Chesterfield flavor. Milder . . . and a more pleasing aroma.

Cigarette paper? Only the purest that's made is good enough for Chesterfield.

PICK UP a package. Note its clean appearance . . . free from heavy inks. It's moisture-proof, too.

And three big factories at Richmond, Durham and San Francisco—operating under the strictest sanitary standards—rush them fresh to you.

Good . . . they've got to be good. Because they're made that way. And most important of all . . . you can taste this goodness in the cigarette. You can tell it in the smoke.

Light up, Mister! Try Chesterfield.

Let the cigarette do its own talking.

You'll get the whole thrilling story, in just two words . . . "They Satisfy"!

"Yes Sir - Mild yet they Satisfy"
